That said, if you still need to be realistic about where you stand to afford a bigger down payment and a monthly mortgage payment, start planning now. The important thing to remember is that the ideal scenario doesn't necessarily have to happen in the exact way you have planned. Ask 3 Questions Before Each Business Decision Listen carefully to the answer to each of the following questions, and use them to plan your actions. Do you plan to follow or lead? Do you plan to influence or persuade? Does the issue need to be solved today or can you take your time? The first step is always to pick your weapons, so make sure you have the answers to those questions. The Bigger Picture The reason things work for you is not because you're destined to succeed; it's because you've got a lot of skills and drive and a little luck. Having a good work ethic is essential. As a matter of fact, you can't be doing anything else but working and trying to succeed, so you might as well do it. The Fast Lane The fast lane means focusing all your efforts on the more than 20 million different businesses whose survival is dependent on you. It's not enough to be a sales manager, it's not even enough to be an inside salesperson. You have to be great at sales. Keep It Simple Sales are here to stay, and if you don't want to end up working 80 hours a week and mired in debt, being a salesperson is the number one job you have to do. It requires focus, discipline, energy, and enthusiasm. Remove the Junk Salespeople buy junk before they get paid. That
