The Mark of God The Mark of God is a 2005 English-language sequel to The Da Vinci Code and The Holy Blood and The Holy Grail, with the subtitle "La Seigneurie de Vinci: The Quest for the Bloodline of Jesus". The book was written by Jonathan Mayhew, a London barrister and author of The Lost Revolution of 1776, a book on the American Revolution. Overview In The Mark of God, the main character, Robert Langdon, is a professor of symbology and religious studies at Harvard University. As part of the afterword for the newly updated version of The Da Vinci Code, Gildet states that Mayhew "revised the story in response to fan and critical reaction" and further elaborates that "I have therefore not touched the original plot structure, and have made only a few minor changes. There were five chapters written earlier than the others,
